

MEMBERSHIP IN APDSP PAYS OFF!

The Association of Printing and Data Solutions Professionals, formerly called the International Reprographic Association, is a group made up of large-format imaging professionals across the U.S. and Canada.

Members of APDSP benefit in four ways:

EDUCATION

APDSP sponsors webinars on key topics of interest to large-format imaging professionals, publishes articles about issues affecting the industry, and sponsors face-to-face educational events, such as Job Site University.

MARKETING

APDSP invests heavily in advertising and promotions to the AEC community to encourage architects, builders, and others to use the services of APDSP members. The advertisements and promotions encourage those prospective customers to use the APDSP online member directory to find service providers.

DISCOUNTS

APDSP members receive discounts from key industry vendors that range from percentages-off to free shipping or options. APDSP members also have access to wholesale pricing on 3D printing, vinyl printing, and raster-to-vector conversion services. Finally, members also are enrolled in UNA Purchasing Solutions, which saves them money on FedEx, Staples, travel, and other common business expenses.

NETWORKING

APDSP members are invited to join APDSP Network, an online members-only networking system that facilitates connections between members in different geographies so that they can find partners for projects outside their areas. APDSP members also are encouraged to use the member forum in the Member Information Center to ask and respond to questions.

Membership is just $250 annually. Join today at www.apdsp.org
